B&C Speakers: In 2014 Sales Growth and Margins in Line With 2013

--

The sales gains made in the fourth quarter of 2014 allowed the company to make up for the delay due to technical problems that occurred in August.

Â

B&C Speakers is pleased to announce that, on the basis of its fourth quarter 2014 revenue performance, it projects that it will close 2014 with a slight increase in consolidated sales over the previous year.

The group will thus post a new all-time sales growth record, while also reporting increasing revenues for the sixth consecutive year.

One crucial factor to achieving this outcome was the company's positive performance in Europe , its main market, in addition to its sound results on the South American market (despite the economic slowdown there), due in part to the considerable sales generated by the Brazilian subsidiary.

Lorenzo Coppini , B&C Speakers' Managing Director, commented: "We have ended the year on a positive note and, given our current order backlog and market positioning, we currently foresee a sales growth of more than 5% in 2015.
